

The Gingerbread Class

Written and Illustrated by Mrs.
Wolf's Class

2014

Just before Christmas, Mrs. Wolf was at home making gingerbread cookies for Santa Claus. She cut out 19 boy and girl gingerbread shapes for her class.

Mrs. Wolf and Harper decorated the cookies with icing, licorice and candy canes.

Mrs. Wolf put the cookies in the oven to bake. Harper couldn't wait any longer, so Mrs. Wolf opened the oven to check the cookies... when the cookies jumped out! Harper started chasing the cookies while they sang,

Run, run

Very very fast

You can't catch us

We're the gingerbread class!

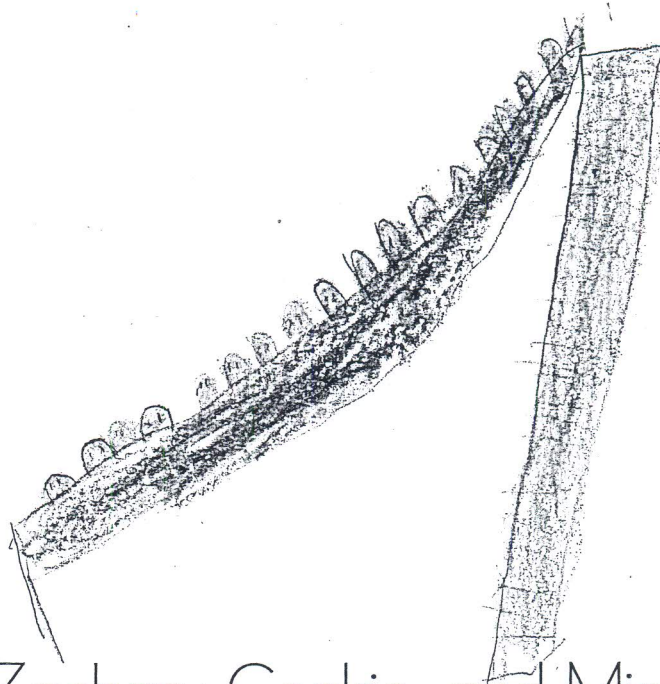

The cookie class followed Cookie Ava and Cookie Lyla to the pool at Comfort Inn. The lifeguard smelled the scrumptious cookies and jumped off her stand. She started swimming after the class. The cookies sang,

Run, run

Very very fast

You can't catch us

We're the gingerbread class!

Kelly Cookie, Zachary Cookie, and Mia Cookie lead the class to Field School to go down the slides. The third graders saw the delicious cookies and joined in the chase.

Run, run

Very very fast

You can't catch us

We're the gingerbread class!

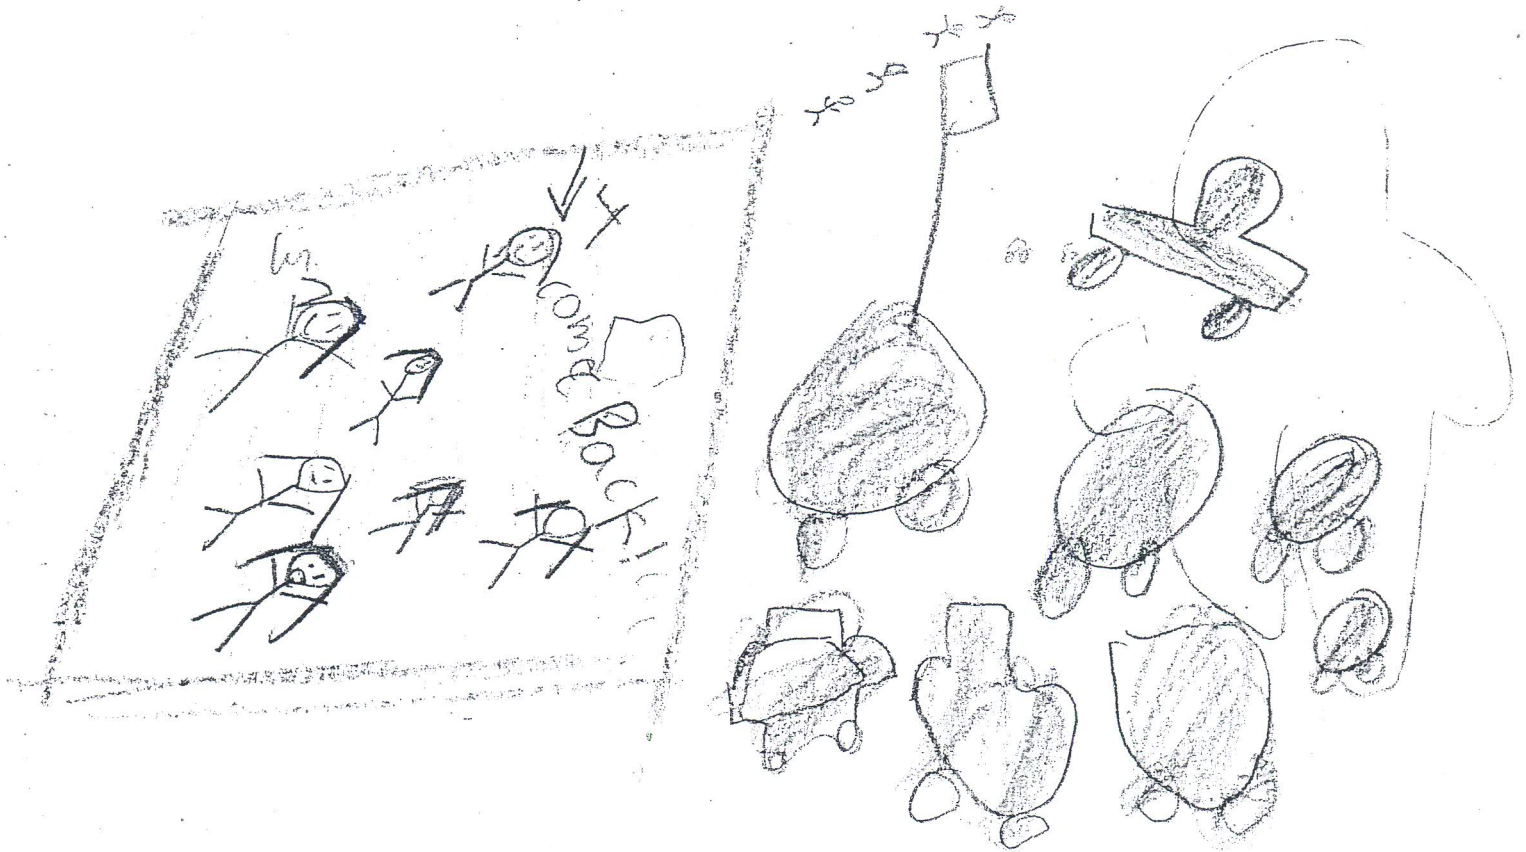

Isaac Cookie, Jaydah Cookie, and Gage Cookie started down the street. Two dogs from the vet's office smelled the cookies and broke out of their kennels to run after the gingerbread class.

Run, run

Very very fast

You can't catch us

We're the gingerbread class!

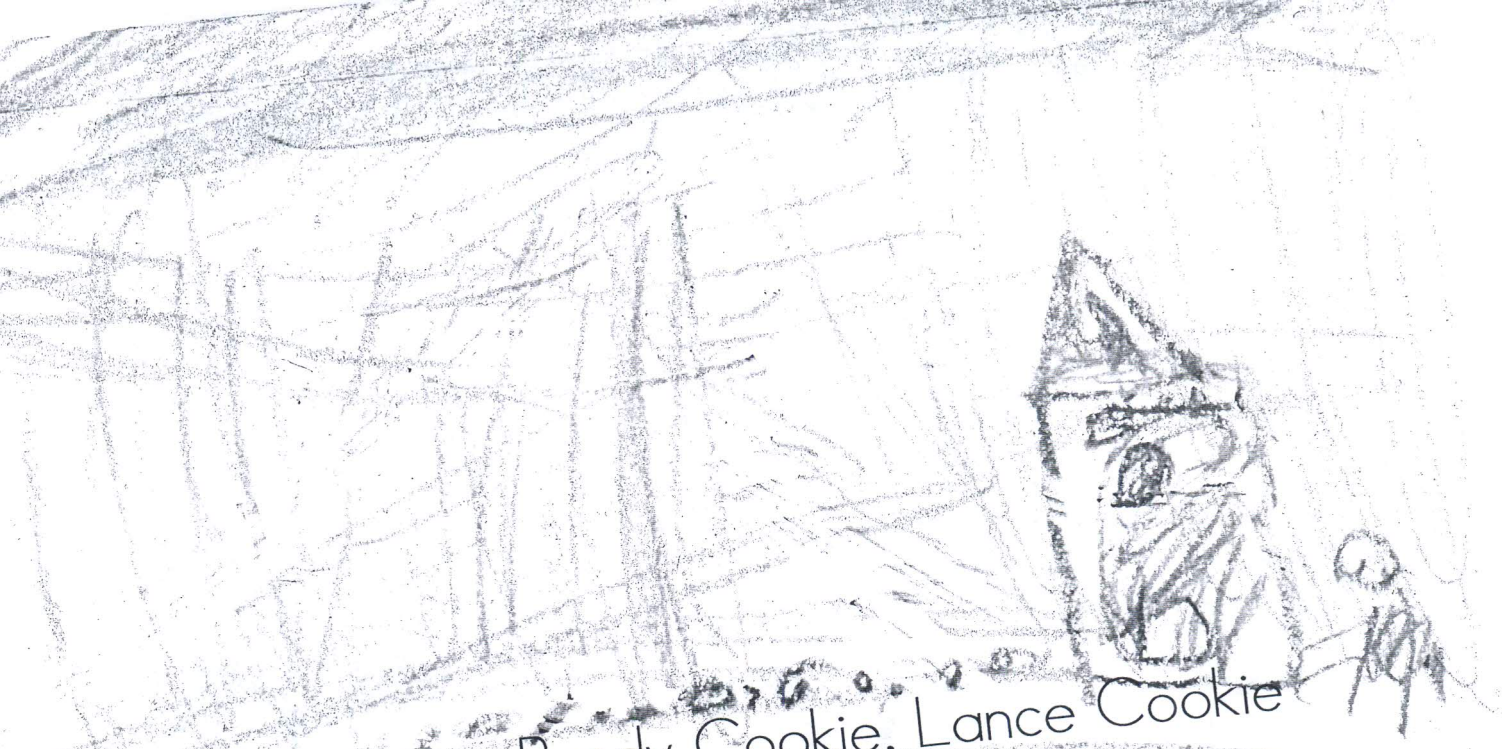

Alexis Cookie, Abby Cookie, Jaiden Cookie,
and Taylor Cookie ran for the Skating Rink.
There was a four year old having a birthday party. The children spotted the yummy cookies and darted after them.

Run, run

Very very fast

You can't catch us

We're the gingerbread class!

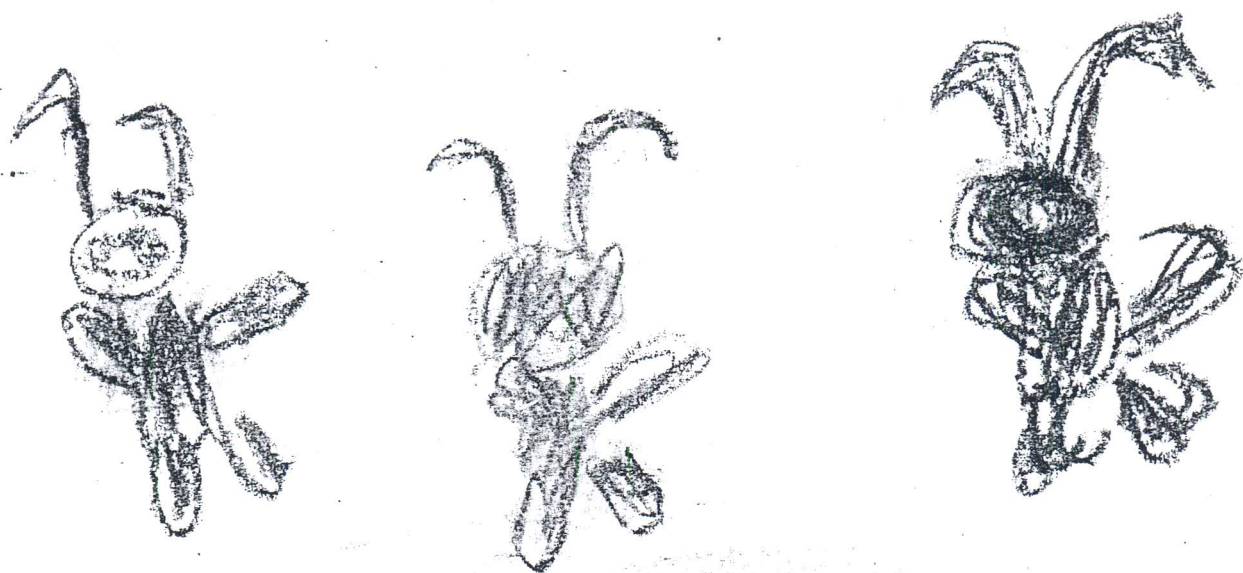

Jeremy Cookie, Brody Cookie, Lance Cookie and Connor Cookie escaped and lead the class to the Donut Palace where Deputy Leadbetter was getting a pink sprinkled donut.
Deputy decided to have gingerbread cookies
instead when he smelled the wonderful cookies running by and joined in the chase.

Run, run

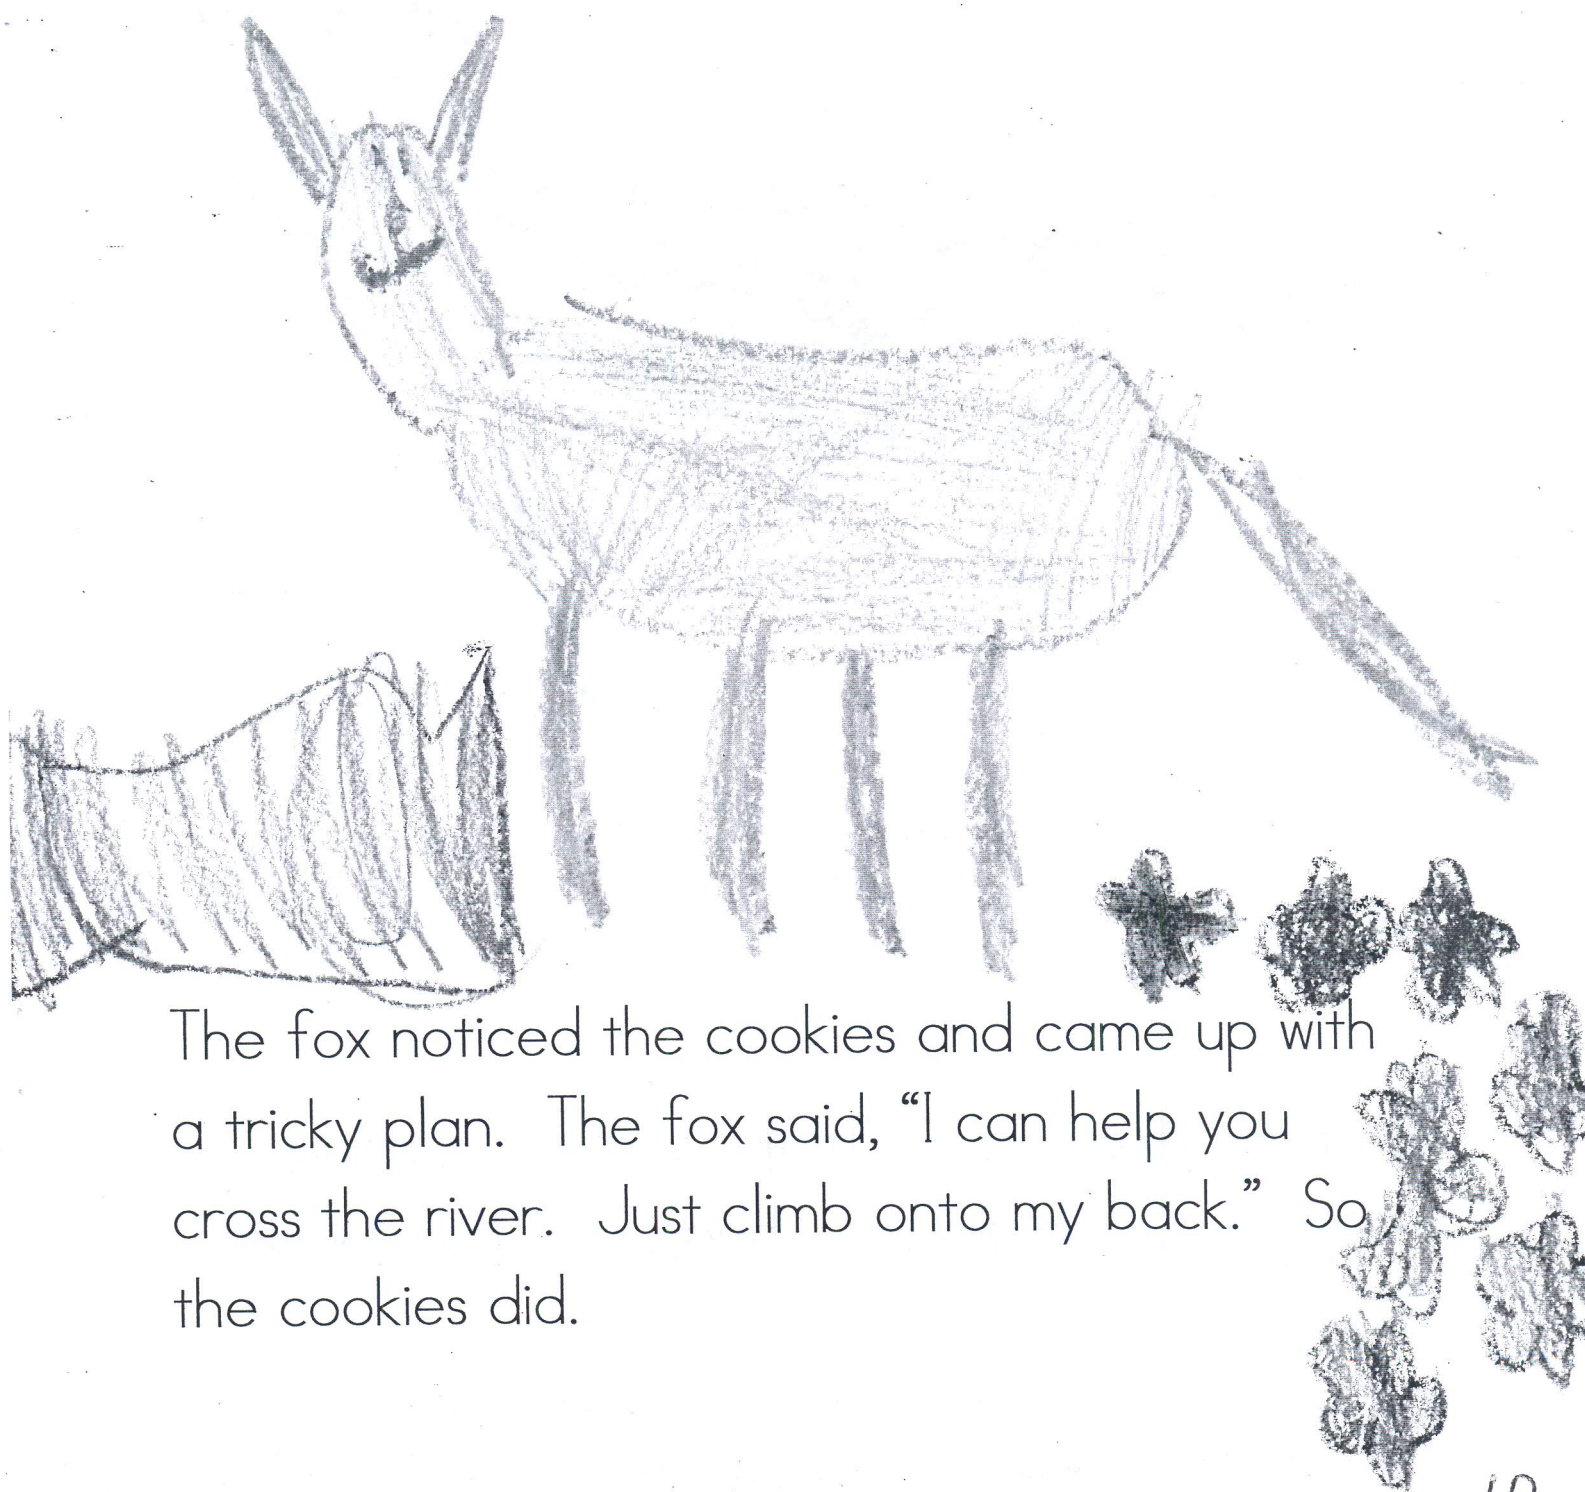

Very very fast

You can't catch us

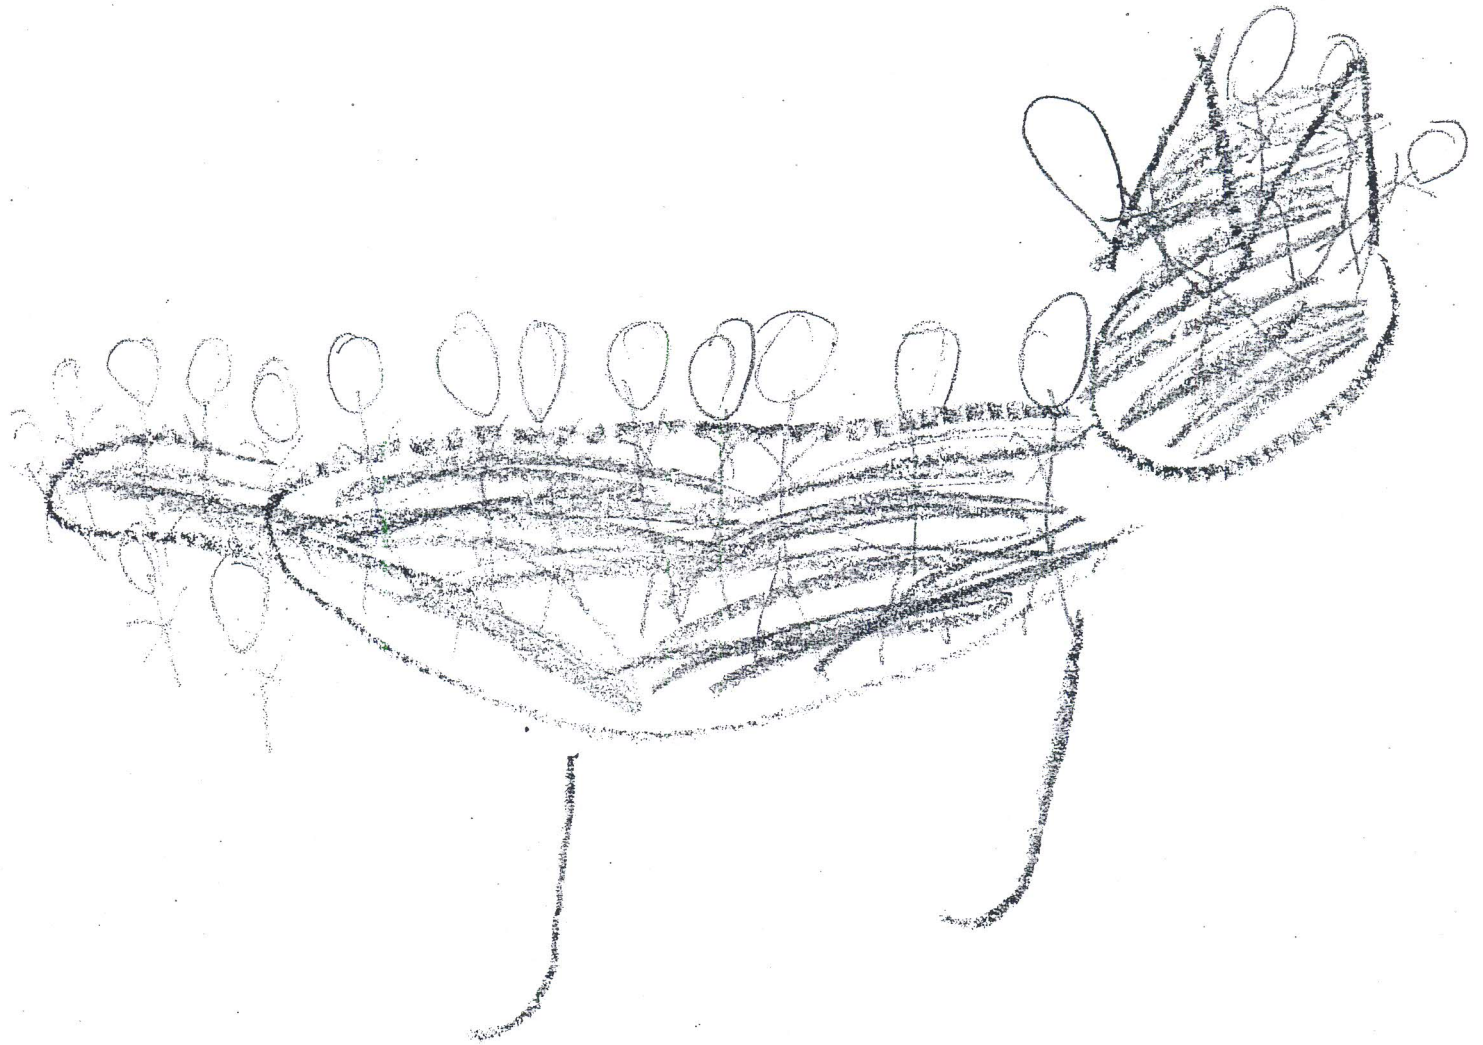

We're the gingerbread class!

Merrick Cookie, Chloe Cookie, and Jay Cookie directed the class away from the stampede chasing after them when they came to the river. There happened to be a fox resting by the water.

The fox noticed the cookies and came up with a tricky plan. The fox said, "I can help you cross the river. Just climb onto my back." So the cookies did.

Then the fox said, "Oh, the water is getting deeper. Climb onto my head." So the cookies did.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Fox drove by on her way home and noticed the familiar gingerbread faces. She stopped her car and got out. Mrs. Fox grabbed a net from her trunk and scooped up the gingerbread cookies! She saved the class from being eaten by the hungry fox!

Mrs. Fox carefully placed the cookies in a basket and took them home. Later that night Mrs. Fox laid the gingerbread cookie class out on a platter for Santa Claus to enjoy!